

L. Ed Clark - Refereed Journal Articles at Vernon

1. Jacoby, P.W., C.H. Meadors and L.E. Clark. 1990. Effects of triclopyr, clopyralid and picloram on growth and production of cotton (Gossypium hirsutum). Journal of Production Agriculture 3:297-301.
2. Mathieson, J.T., C.M. Rush, D.G. Bordovsky, L.E. Clark and O.R. Jones. 1990. Effects of tillage on common root rot of wheat in Texas. Plant Disease 74:1006-1008.
3. Clark, L.E., H.T. Wiedemann, C.J. Gerard and J.R. Martin. 1991. A reduced tillage system with furrow diking for cotton production. Trans. of the Amer. Soc. Agr. Eng. 34:1597-1603.
4. Montandon, R., J. E. Slosser, L. E. Clark. 1994. Late-season termination effects on cotton fruiting, yield, and boll weevil (Coleoptera: Curculionidae) damage in Texas dryland cotton. Journal of Economic Entomology 87(6): 1647-1652.
5. Woodard, H.J., L.R. Hossner, A.B. Onken, L.E. Clark, V.A. Haby, B.W. Hipp, J.E. Matocha, J.E. Mulkey, and R.P. Wiedenfeld. 1994. A preliminary comparison of the ammonium acetate EDTA soil phosphorus extraction method to the Bray 1 and Olsen soil phosphorus extraction methods. Communications Soil Science Plant Analysis 25: 2909-2923.
6. Clark, L.E., T.R. Moore, and J.L. Barnett. 1996. Response of cotton to cropping and tillage systems in the Texas Rolling Plains. Journal of Production Agriculture 9:55-60.
7. Wiedemann, H. T., and L.E. Clark. 1996. Chain diking effects on runoff and winter wheat production. Agronomy Journal 88: 541-544.